A Bridge Too Far for the SPLC?

As with Cart66, Paypal, and Stripe before them, the financial services company Square closed down our credit card processor capabilities in mid-August, claiming that we were in violation of their terms and conditions, which, if one reads the fine print of Square's agreement, could possibly be either operating a "high risk business" or promoting "hate." Like the other companies before them, Square did not get specific about why we were being denied the use of their services or cite any violations of their entirely subjective criteria for what constitutes "hate," as defined for them, most likely, by the anti-White Southern Poverty Law Center's overreaching "hate experts."

We hope we will soon have the Cosmotheist Church book store set back up to process credit card orders again despite the SPLC's so far successful efforts at deplatforming us, thereby denying us the ability to conduct online commerce. For now people can go to <https://cosmotheistchurch.org/shop/>, print out an order form (prices include postage) and send that through the mail with a check or money order, and receive back what's ordered — as long as the US Postal Service is still available to us, that is.

Chairman Williams received a threatening letter in the mail on 31

A wildly inappropriate anachronism: Anti-White American Express still uses a very White Roman centurion as their mascot.

August from a New York law firm that claims to represent the American Express credit card company. That's the same American Express (Amex) company that a year ago withdrew its permission for its cardholders to order material from our online bookstore, presumably because they've been told by the SPLC that we are "high risk" or "haters." The letter states that if we do not cease the "unauthorized use" of a nearly-microscopic Amex icon (part of a generic "charge your order" graphic showing various credit card logos) on our Web site, the National Alliance is in big trouble. Chairman Williams is to answer the lawyer's letter before 7 September — or else.

We do not give a whit about American Express. Any Alliance member who has an Amex credit card should consider cutting it up and telling the company why you're dropping them. It is not we who put up the Amex logo at our bookstore. We don't accept the White-hating American Express company's cards. It's the White-hating folks at Square (the credit card processing firm that decided this month it can no longer process any credit cards for us) who posted Amex's precious copyrighted logo as part of their graphic.

We have been unable to conduct business through our Web sites for the second half of August and into September. This latest denial of service emphasizes yet again why we prefer to conduct business through regular mail. Mailing a check with an order is less convenient than setting up a recurring payment or entering a credit card number into a Web page, but the electronic options leave our commercial operations vulnerable to those who control Amex, PayPal, Stripe, Square, and the other online services that are necessary to conduct online commerce. The near monopoly of Internet financial service companies that can and do deny service to those they deem "high risk" or "haters" is becoming an anti-trust issue. Denying service to a registered church can become an issue, too, as soon as an idealistic, pro-White constitutional attorney with a backbone steps up to the challenge.

It was the very day after the "Unite the Right" debacle in Charlottesville, Virginia, last year that there was an orchestrated shutdown of online financial services for any group that had a pro-White or pro-heterosexual message, including the National Alliance, though the Alliance had nothing to do with organizing that rally or participating in it. Another wave of orchestrated denials of financial services occurred this year on the one-year anniversary of that Charlottesville rally. Square's yanking our ability to process credit card payments is an example. As usual, the so-called Southern Poverty Law Center is behind many of these denials of services. The Anti-Defamation League (ADL) and anti-White Jew billionaire George Soros and his Media Matters outfit are also involved in this blacklisting, not to mention support for it across the board by the Democratic Party and the controlled media.

Boycott us? We'll boycott you!

A Florida megachurch that takes a dim view of homosexuals marrying each other has filed a defamation lawsuit against the SPLC over its reckless and politically motivated use of the "hate group" tag. DJK Ministries say:

It's completely disingenuous to tag D. James Kennedy Ministries as a hate group alongside the KKK and neo-Nazis. We desire all people, with no exceptions, to receive the love of Christ and his forgiveness and healing. We unequivocally condemn violence, and we hate no one. These false and illegal characterizations have a chilling effect on the free exercise of religion and on religious free speech for all people of faith.

We in the Alliance and in the Cosmotheist community disagree with Pastor Kennedy about many things, but we emphatically agree with him about our respective ministries feeling the chill of the illegal acts of the SPLC and their collaborators who don't like our faiths or our religious free speech.

Reverend Kennedy's group has filed suit against the SPLC. Other Christian conservative organizations are discussing the filing of a class-action suit against the Jewish group for smearing them as "haters" — and in light of the fact that the "law center" was forced last month to pay more than $3 million to settle a lawsuit brought by a Muslim they had slipped up and placed on their "hate" list and called an "extremist."

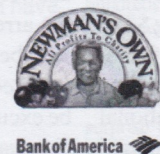

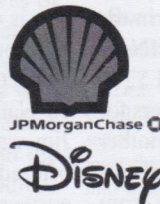

No one from those estimated 60 groups that the SPLC claims are "haters" has contacted the National Alliance to be a part of the supposed lawsuit, though the Alliance has been a primary target of the SPLC for decades longer than have these come-lately, junior varsity "haters" — mostly toothless White Christian conservatives who put their trust in Jesus to save the day against the SPLC and their Jew-led "antifa" allies. In a well-supported class action suit they may very well have the clout to take the SPLC goons down a few notches.

The National Alliance wishes all who have been harmed by the SPLC's smears good luck in these court actions, and we are glad to see the SPLC in the defendant's box. Meanwhile, Alliance members and racially-responsible Whites everywhere should not only boycott companies like Amex, but should boycott all the companies whose familiar logos are shown here — because all of these companies support the SPLC financially. Why support those who hate us? Look for alternatives.

Those professional barrators like the SPLC, who have lived in past days by repeated and fraudulent vicarious liability lawsuits — used selectively against pro-White groups in order to bankrupt them — should die by the lawsuit.

It's not just the credit card companies and online credit card processing companies who are partnering with the SPLC to deny vital services to racially-conscious Whites, it's also the powerful Internet giants Facebook, Twitter, Google, YouTube, and Amazon who work with SPLC to identify and restrict alleged "hate groups" from their platforms. We can't boycott every company that works with our enemies, but we can start identifying the biggest corporate supporters of SPLC, exposing their anti-White associations and spreading the word to others. A pro-White act of passive resistance may be as simple of choosing a product like Liquid Wrench or PB Blaster next time one needs a can of penetrating lubricant instead of WD-40. Remember the SPLC stain on these corporate logos and the values those corporations represent when they try to get you to buy their products and services.

Legal Update

It certainly would be nice if the National Alliance BULLETIN didn't need to provide legal updates to its members and supporters each month. It's not a nice world that the Alliance operates in; we have many enemies who would destroy what our Alliance has built over four decades, and some of them use the courts to fight us. The worst thing one can do when sued is to do nothing. One must defend or risk an adverse default judgment. The Alliance and its leadership have defended — and prevailed — in three destructive and expensive civil lawsuits in the last four years. We are still fighting a couple of false criminal charges brought three years ago against Alliance leadership by fired employees.

We have been updating Alliance members lately about the case of NA activist member Jim Mathias in eastern Iowa. Jim's appeal of the trumped-up conviction, which we've covered in the last few issues of the BULLETIN, is ongoing. Last month we reported $270 was donated by three of our members for Jim's defense fund. This month another $310 was donated by four members. $400 of that $580 total so far was from just two generous members, giving $200 each. These men are not wealthy, but they realize what Jim has sacrificed to fight for our right to distribute National Alliance material without being harassed and threatened by law enforcement and prosecutors. One of those donors, a long-time Alliance member in Louisiana, lives barely above the poverty level but is inspired by Jim's stand for the Alliance and for free speech to make that donation towards Jim's $5,000 legal expenses. Everyone reading these words is asked to consider making a donation for Jim's defense fund, even if a small amount. Send gifts to the Alliance's address in Tennessee; be sure to specify they are for 'J.M. defense,' not for monthly dues.

Jim Mathias spreads Alliance material around in his region every day, so it is not all that surprising that on 11 August Jim was making a round of a LeClaire, Iowa, neighborhood, placing National Alliance business cards on the driver's side car windows parked along several streets. After 40 or so minutes of walking his route that night he was confronted by LeClaire police, who, after a few minutes of questioning, arrested him and charged him with multiple counts of third degree burglary! He was handcuffed behind his back, crammed into the rear seat of a police cruiser, and hauled off to jail where he spent the night in custody for the supposed "burglaries." Jim is once again being charged with a fictitious "pretext crime" for distributing perfectly legal, constitutionally-protected National Alliance written material. Jim was cooperative with the officers, offered no resistance, but was spare in answering their questions. Sgt Gonzales, the arresting officer, told Jim that there will be video footage of his "eight attempted burglaries." Good! That should be exculpatory since the video will show Jim was doing exactly what he said he was doing: putting cards on car windows — never touching even one door handle. Lots of good questions will be raised in Jim's defense.

The long-delayed appeal trial of Chairman Williams' misdemeanor

battery conviction was held on 14 August in the Pocahontas County, West Virginia, Circuit Court. Incredibly, Williams was judged guilty in a bizarre five-hour bench trial. Sentencing will be on 10 October. Chairman Williams will see how that goes before deciding whether or not he will seek further relief on appeal to the West Virginia Supreme Court, or for a new trial in a different venue, etc., to clear his name; this time with an actual investigation of the alleged crime, of the motives of Williams' accuser, and of her fellow coup-plotters' claims of battery — and with a competent defense attorney who knows how to effectively impeach a liar, her false claims, and point out the egregious procedural errors in a ridiculous misdemeanor case that should have been thrown out long ago.

Correspondence

Dear Chairman: I received the information you sent. Thank you much. The Building A New White World booklet is quite impressive and the two-color business cards also. I just spent a large amount of money on my apartment and will probably join the National Alliance as soon as I take care of some urgent personal expenses. Meanwhile, I am willing and able to help some by distributing Alliance material here. Enclosed is a postal money order for $40. $30 for 25 copies of Building A New White World: What Is The National Alliance? and $6 for 100 NA business cards. $4 is donation to the National Alliance. Thanks, again. — R.R., Washington

Chairman Williams responds: Your membership application (submitted a short time after the letter above was sent) has been received and approved, R.R. Welcome! The material you ordered is in the mail to you as this issue of the BULLETIN goes to press. Your membership packet will go out to you and to a few other new members as soon as I can catch up on other pressing issues.

Dear Chairman Williams: So much for those Charlottesville and DC demonstrations! Thousands of dollars wasted on travel expenses and legal fees of all kinds, for what? Why even go into urban enemy-occupied territory? With the hundreds of corrupted law enforcement and other system whores thick as smoke, the scummy urban Whites, and the septic tank mixture of the masked "antifa" creatures who show up at these rallies to oppose anything remotely pro-White, it's no surprise that no normal Whites show up. There are plenty of White areas where our loyalists can safely gather, Whites only, without all the opposition and controversy. The trend to use secure state parks in Tennessee for regional pro-White gatherings is positive, but expensive. National Alliance members should concentrate their focus close to their homes, in house. Support local Whites! I know there are millions of Whites who share the White racial mindset. I see it around me here in Virginia on a daily basis. At this time the majority stay quiet and go about their lives. They don't stand out. We'll be there for them when they have had enough of the urban jungles. They will see we are the good guys with the best plan to remake White civilization. Keep up the good work! — A.R., Virginia

Hello Will: Please find enclosed two checks. $500 for a mid-year donation to the National Alliance, and $200 to go toward Jim Mathias' legal expenses. Thank you for the incredible job you do! — D.R., North Carolina

Hello Will: I am 25 years old and I'm a fan of William Pierce and of your organisation from Russia. I also listen to your radio. There are hundreds of people like me in Russia, because we have racial conflicts too, despite the fact that many White nationalists consider Russia as pro-White country and Vladimir Putin as a great White leader. But reality is absolutely the opposite — Putin is a multiracialist, and Russia is a multiracial empire like USA, and it's flooded with non-Whites... There are hundreds or even thousands of people like me, some who got real terms in jails [for protesting this reality]... I should give you some evidence of racial conflicts in Stavropolski Kray. I know your wife is Russian, so you can ask her to translate my materials. I appreciate that very much. With honor, — Ivan P., Russia

Chairman Williams responds: Ivan, I will send your documents to our media office for review. Putin is a politician trying to please many sub-groups in the Russian electorate. That's what politicians do. Whether his government is dedicated to the genocide of Whites as one of its central principles, as the regime in Washington certainly is, is an open question. Regardless, we are excited to learn that the National Alliance has a dedicated following in Russia.

D.R., you are most welcome! Thank you so much for your continuing support of the Alliance and for your support for Jim Mathias. We received the following updates from Jim this month, the second one as this edition of the BULLETIN goes to press:

7 August, 2018: Dear Chairman Williams: Let me begin by expressing my gratitude for setting up and being the conduit for my legal defense fund. That money comes at a tough time for me... 250 Alliance fliers were distributed here during July... Not a day goes by when I'm not doing at least one thing for our cause. Thank you again for the 1,000 NA business cards; some have already made their way into the hands of Whites. I observed a White lady carefully reading one of our cards that she discovered on the driver's side window of her car, wedged in between the window and weatherstripping. We are reaching people when we're active!

31 August, 2018: Dear Chairman Williams: This is the latest, and I hope the last court case involving me being charged with attempted burglary. Eight charges are what I face; one for each vehicle's window I put a card on in front of witnesses would be my guess as to how they came up with that number. I dare anyone to find my fingerprints on the handle of any one of those (or any other) vehicles. They won't find them because there are none. My initial appearance and preliminary hearing was held and nothing happened except that I waived the hearing. That hearing was an opportunity to challenge the probable cause that led to the arrest. Since I have received no information about the probable cause the police used to arrest me, I can't challenge it. I won't get this information until the county attorney files the charges. That is also when I'll receive the statements of witnesses, if there actually are any. I intend to put up a vigorous defense. This is harassment, pure and simple. A lot of NA cards were distributed in the two days leading up to my arrest — around 300, I believe. There were thousands of Whites at a nearby event. If I hadn't been interfered with, I would have reached many more Whites that evening. The state, using their attorneys and hired guns, are going to try and put me in prison for what is supposed to be protected free speech, using whatever means they have at hand. If they succeed, it won't be because I've committed any criminal activity, but because I was peaceably doing what all Whites should be doing — our very best to put our race on the upward path towards the Creator's purpose. With my best regards, — Jim Mathias, Iowa

Cosmotheism Is Not Spooky

The National Office received the following note and suggestion from a man trying to understand Cosmotheism:

Chairman Williams: I like many others have had a hard time getting my head around the whole Cosmotheism theory. However the "urge" inside me to self-educate and gain understanding to inform others led me to this: <https://nationalvanguard.org/2017/06/who-we-are-a-series-of-articles-on-the-history-of-the-white-race-part-1/> This would be my first suggestion to anyone that is attempting to understand who we are. And it would also be the first part of any membership developmental program the Alliance would consider. This before the trilogy. [found here: <https://nationalvanguard.org/2015/02/cosmotheism-the-path-updated/>] — R.V., Florida

Some people are able to grasp Cosmotheism easier than others. Reading the 26 chapters of Who We Are at nationalvanguard.org, starting with Part One, linked above, is an excellent way for one to gradually wrap his mind around the Cosmotheist belief system, though it needs some updating due to scientific discoveries made about our race origins since Dr. Pierce wrote that series of articles nearly 40 years ago, as well as a more pan-European emphasis, things which Dr. Pierce was working on at the time of his death. We received a nice email from a long-time British nationalist this month that gives us hope that influential people around the world are coming to see Cosmotheism as the answer to our race's woes:

Sirs: I represent a British organization (Western Spring) and we receive many enquiries for membership from individuals all over the world. It is however impractical for us to attempt to organise and make direct contact with many of these individuals, those in parts of the world that are distant from the UK. I wonder therefore, if in order to help me avoid disappointing those in parts of the world that are distant from the UK. I wonder therefore, if in order to help me avoid disappointing those who enquire from the USA and Canada, I may send to you all of our North American enquiries?...

I share many of your ideas and like you I believe it is important to continue to promote and develop Cosmotheism as the religion for White people, providing an essential spiritual dimension to our ideology. I believe there is scope for our respective organisations to co-operate as sister organisations, sharing the same ultimate goal and a similar operational style. I look forward to your reply. Best wishes, — Max Musson, United Kingdom

I'd heard of Western Spring (WS) but didn't know much about the group, so did a quick search for it and for Mr. Musson and found a YouTube video of him giving a speech at the recent 10th annual John Tyndall Memorial gathering. What impressed me most about his talk was his rather lengthy citation from Dr. Pierce's foundational speech, "Our Cause." The National Alliance is careful when considering allies, and we particularly compare a group's ideology with our Cosmotheist world view. I replied to Mr. Musson that the Alliance welcomes cooperation with WS, looks forward to receiving the inquires WS gets from America, and that, for starters, we should begin the reciprocal exchange of our organizations' print periodicals. I said his speech was impressive and agreed with him that the Alliance and WS should work together as he suggested. We have already been republishing some articles from the WS Web site at nationalvanguard.org, and WS has reciprocated by republishing articles from National Vanguard. He replied:

Will: I am pleased that you are inclined to cooperate... My perception is that the National Alliance and Western Spring are sufficiently similar in terms of style, ideology and objectives to be regarded as counterparts either side of the Atlantic. In terms of the number of enquiries coming from us, I don't think you will be disappointed. One thing that I have learned is that close proximity to an organised group is essential in winning and holding on to the continued support of a prospective new member.

Please feel free to forward your newsletter to me. We have not been sending out a newsletter although I think that is something that we should change and I will possibly model our newsletter on your own if that is okay with you. I will send you an initial batch of enquiries within the next couple of days. I don't intend to make this conditional upon the express consent of the individuals concerned as I believe the dire situation of our race requires us to adopt a more robust approach and in any event the vast majority of the enquirers expect to be approached by someone local to them.

I am a great fan of William Pierce and I frequently quote him in speeches and articles. I am also a fan of Kevin Strom and I was particularly pleased when I first learned of your involvement in rescuing the National Alliance from the idiots who gained control after William Pierce's death. Best wishes, — Max Musson

The National Alliance is proud to count Western Spring as an ally. We no more object to WS modeling its proposed print newsletter on our monthly internal BULLETIN than we objected to John Tyndall's modeling his British National Party members' handbook on ours. The Alliance doesn't provide a member's contact information to others without that member's express permission, but if we receive inquiries from the UK we will forward them to Mr. Musson or to the suitable individual who steps forward there to network with and organize UK

Alliance members. I found an excellent article by Mr. Musson, "God — A Work in Progress," at the Western Spring site (<http://westernspring.co.uk/god-a-work-in-progress-2/>), which I'll excerpt here.

[T]he Cosmos is a mechanism that facilitates evolution — the evolution of inanimate matter, but also living matter, through ever increasing levels of complexity knowledge, power and consciousness.

We humans, as far as we can tell, stand at the pinnacle of that evolutionary process, but there is no evidence to suggest that we are the 'end product,' in fact the contrary. All of the evidence suggests that we are as Nietzsche describes, a 'stepping stone' from sub-man to super-man and beyond.

Cosmotheism asserts that providing we continue the process of evolution, mankind, or at least the currently most highly evolved elements of humanity, such as the White race, will evolve through ever higher and higher levels of consciousness, power and knowledge until our future generations achieve a state of total consciousness and omnipotence. This will be the culmination of the Creator's work, the metamorphosis of the Creator from a pre-physical state, either with or without consciousness, but with an indefatigable 'will to be,' through many stages to his/her eventual complete self-realisation as a conscious, sentient, all powerful, all knowing entity — Godhood.

This belief is the fundamental tenet of Cosmotheism, which unlike any other religion, is completely consistent with science and nature, and does not rely on blind faith or superstitious mumbo-jumbo in order to attain credibility.

It is encouraging to see the National Alliance's ideology and program catching on around the world in nations where Whites have traditionally lived, where they are searching for a spook-free, non-nonsense, racially exclusive belief system that works for the race instead of being detrimental — one that is in harmony with Nature, and that is both preservationist and forward-looking. William Pierce would be proud. Keep spreading the Cosmotheist good word! W. W. W.
